This Is Not Yet The End

July 10, 2010

This is not yet the end, My Children. On the contrary, I have released for you a new beginning. Even though many look around and see the upheaval that I have brought, and they think this is surely the end approaching. I say to you, No. I am only just now breaking the hardest of bondages, and I am only just now getting into the depths to begin my deepest work in the heart of everything. I told you that I was coming to set My People free. You see this playing out in the natural events, and also in the spiritual that you are only just beginning to sense. I am in full control. I am doing such a great, deep, wonderful work, but many think that I am bringing things to an end. Listen to My Voice, Children, I am going to do so much more. You will see a great, great, great war.

I am bringing a greater war in the spirit and a greater war in the earth. Oh yes, it has already begun to unfold. But as it accelerates, I would have you already settled in Me. I want you to root to Me securely. I want you totally focused upon Me, and not running from event to event. You must get your daily bread from Me. You must get your daily plans from Me. You must not go by what you hear and by what you see around you. I have something special for you, and you must obtain it from Me alone. I am breaking within the heart of everything right now, and I will lay every heart bare. Because I want every heart to respond fully to Me, and to have the opportunity to be free. But greater than just freedom, I want wholeness, soundness, and complete healing. I want pure hearts. So the greater wars will now start.

I want you positioned in Me right now. Get your mind- your thought life- spiritually girded, and fortified in Me, and strengthen your spirit man, and take care of your bodies. Get things in order. You cannot stand in Me if you are out of balance in these areas. I want your temple right. I want you to begin to discipline yourself and to reign in your natural appetites that still hunger after natural things, and begin to shore up your faith and your vision in Me. Now is the time to prepare yourself to stand like no other. For My War will tear down all that still remains that still hasn't been given over to Me. I want you to stand in complete victory. I want you to stand to the end.

I am the King, but more than that, I am the Conquering King. I am conquering everything that hate and opposes Me, that denies Me, and that is not for Me. I will accept nothing less than full allegiance to Me. So, Children, choose you this day who you believe in and who you trust in, and decide now. Decide now, and come and learn to fully abide now, while it is easy to approach Me. The door remains open for you. I will accept you, as you open your heart and life to Me, I will embrace you. For I am calling you to Myself in this Hour. I want you to understand that I am doing in your land and in your life. I am coming with My Holy Knife. I am going into the greatest of the deep, into the greatest of the hardness, and of the remaining sin. I am going all the way in. I am coming in. My War will break out even more, as I remove and as I heal and restore.

This is not yet the end. I have many plans and purposes for which you must fully contend. I want you to fight for your right. I want you to stand for the vision that I have birthed from within you, until it is done. I want you to contend for the faith that was once given unto the former saints, and then contend for even more. There is so much that you have yet to accomplish in the coming days, months, and years. I am only beginning to bring you understanding, and wisdom for what's ahead. You must come to Me daily to be able to walk it out clearly and smoothly. I have a Grace for you in this hour, but I also have a path ordained for you to walk in, within this Hour. It is a Path that is full of My Life, of full of My Presence, and also of My Choosing for you. I know what you are to do, and where you are to go, and how you will finish. But you must walk with Me.

I hear the cries of the bound, and of those that seek to be found. I know their hunger and their thirsts, and I know their pain, and I am going to bring each one into freedom in Me. What I will do will shock the world, but it will not shock you, for you will know what I will do as I walk with you. You will be the Instrument of Stability to the masses. You will be the Reflection of Peace to those that fear. You will be the Bearer of Good News and of Faith to those who doubt and are troubled. You will be the Repairer of the Breach and of the Foundations that I have desired to re-lay and to re-build. You are My Vessel, and you are to rise up now, and stand all across your land. You are seeing the moving of My Hand, but Children, it is not the End, Oh No, it is only the Beginning of My War. There is much more.

I will shake from the East to the West. I will burn from the North to the South. I will blow from within and from without. I will totally break out. I will turn everything inside out and upside down, and no man will say they did it, or announced it, or birthed it. But the Lands will utterly know that it is Me. For no man will do what I can and will do, for it is Supernatural, and it is even Eternal, for I have planned it from the beginning. Man will know across the face of the Earth that I AM. And then and only then, will the Fear of the Lord begin to burn in the Hearts of men again. Then and only then will cities, and countries, and nations begin to call upon My Name again. Then and only then, will the Knowledge of My Glory be understood, and be apprehended around the world. My pains and My Floods have begun. My Quakes have begun. My Fires and My Storms have begun. My Wars have begun. Nations will shake and some will even break. Even so, rejoice and shout, for your total Victory is also breaking out! I will entirely rout! I will surely rout! I will utterly rout! And you, My Children, will rejoice and fully break out! For I am breaking out! Look, for My Hosts that are among you are ready for the battle. They will help you, and they will clear the way, as you walk with Me each and every day. Take heed to what I say, for I have given you the way. You know what to do, and you know what is True. Focus upon Me and walk in Liberty in the war that will now be. I have given you ears to hear and the eyes to see. It is time that you walk in it's reality.

Time as you have known it has indeed changed. You have sensed this for some time, but have not fully understood what has taken place. There are depths that you have not explored yet, but now I will bring you into, that will answer the many questions that have been stirring in you. I have indeed been rearranging everything, and even time itself. For you were not meant for the perimeters of time, but to walk in the Divine. You are to walk with Me in the Heavens. And you will do so even more, for as you press in, your Spiritual Life will even more be activated and apprehended. I have levels of understandings and levels of realities yet to be experienced.

I have a Glorious People, born from above, who live in the earth, but who are not of the earth. You are born from that Higher Birth, the birth born of My Son, and in that revelation of His Divine Life, you must live and you must run. The Earth is travailing for My Manifested Ones. To you it has been given and it has been ordained, that you walk in this life unchained and unrestrained, even in the Heavenly Realities. My Son has given you the pattern in My Word. It is time for it to now be seen and be heard. The re-birthing of My Word across the world, in My Manifested Ones has begun. This is not the End, but it is the Entrance into My Design for your land and for your lives. Children, come to Me, and fulfill your Destiny.
